

ABSTRACT

Apparatus, system and method for preparing a sample of a biological specimen utilizing a filter tray having a data storage device. The data storage device stores data relating to filter compatibility, expiration, and processing steps and parameters. 5 The storage device can be attached to or positioned within the filter tray. The storage device can also be interfaced to a sample processing system.